If required, we can also apply an anti-graffitti over-laminate to any of our signs. This dry-wipe protective layer will protect the sign from spray paint and marker pens, as well as any common contaminants such as dirt, grease, birds mess, etc.

Our highly effective dry-wipe over-laminate is also scratch resistant and will block 98% of UV rays, therefore preventing fading.

Seaward Safety's Surveying Team can assist in ascertaining your signage requirements. One of our Surveyors can attend your site and conduct a comprehensive survey. This will include the signage you require, to comply with relevant legislation, as well as the advised installation location and fixing method. We can also supply the clamps and/or brackets for your signage.

Seaward Safety has over 25 years' experience of designing, manufacturing, supplying and installing signage, of all types, to a diverse range of industries. Our unrivalled knowledge and experience enables us to advise our customers and provide essential support when required.

Our products were initially designed to cope with the typically harsh weather conditions of the offshore oil and gas industry, so ensuring longevity and durability has always been our priority. Using modern production methods and the best quality materials available allows us to guarantee our signage for seven years.
